PUBLIC NOTICE

Have you ever felt like things are happening around the City that you haven't been aware of? Have you intended to see what is on the City Council or the Planning Commission agenda and weren't sure where to find them? Here are two suggestions to help keep you aware of what's going on:

#1 On the northogdencity.com click on Public Notices (lower right side button) and a page will come up with every published notice that has been advertised since November 2019 (That's when we started putting them on the new website). They are organized by the date of the meeting where they will be heard. Or you can use this link:

#2 Go to the Utah State Public Notice website <https://www.utah.gov/pmnl/index.html> Under government click on "Cities." A list of cities will come up and click on North Ogden, then pick the body/(s) that you want to receive notice of. You can then subscribe to the body are interested in and receive an email each time something is posted on this website.
